

Answering Your Charleston Mesothelioma Legal Questions

You probably have a lot of questions about mesothelioma and your legal options in Charleston. Here are answers to some of the most common questions we receive from mesothelioma patients and their families.

Q: What are the laws in Charleston related to mesothelioma?

Ans: Several federal and state laws govern issues related to mesothelioma in Charleston. The main federal law is the Asbestos Hazard Emergency Response Act (AHERA), which was passed in 1986 to regulate the use and removal of asbestos in schools. In South Carolina, the main law is the South Carolina Asbestos and Silica Compensation Act, which allows individuals with asbestos-related diseases to seek compensation from asbestos trust funds.

Q: Who can file a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston?

Ans: Anyone who has been diagnosed with mesothelioma can file a lawsuit in Charleston. This includes individuals who were exposed to asbestos in Charleston or anywhere else in the country. In addition, family members of individuals who have died from mesothelioma may also be able to file a wrongful death lawsuit.

Q: What is the statute of limitations for filing a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston?

Ans: The statute of limitations is the legal deadline for filing a lawsuit. In Charleston, the statute of limitations for mesothelioma cases is three years from the date of diagnosis or the date of death. It is important to consult with an experienced mesothelioma lawyer as soon as possible to ensure that you do not miss this deadline.

Q: How much compensation can I receive for a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston?

Ans: The amount of compensation you can receive for a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston will depend on many factors, including the severity of your illness, the amount of medical expenses and lost wages, and the extent of your asbestos exposure. In general, mesothelioma lawsuits can result in millions of dollars in compensation. However, every case is unique, and the amount of compensation you receive will depend on the specific details of your case.

Q: How long does it take to receive compensation from a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston?

Ans: The length of time it takes to receive compensation from a mesothelioma lawsuit in Charleston can vary. In certain instances, an agreement may be achieved within a matter of months. In other cases, it may take longer, especially if the case goes to trial. It is important to work with an experienced mesothelioma lawyer who can help expedite the process and ensure that you receive the compensation you deserve as quickly as possible.
